

In the last year of the war, harsh Union tactics destroyed Confederate resources, and Confederate troops won no major battles. All Southern forces surrendered by the middle of the year.